

A Night To Remember

Another academic year has come and gone and with it another batch of S6 students. Looking back, graduation seemed so far away. Yet in a blink of an eye it was all over — it's pretty bitter sweet. The graduation dinner was a rare occasion to have all graduates and teachers in the same room. The night was a dedication to the teachers' hard work and also a celebration for having completed 6 years of secondary school.

Seeing everyone made me realize how much we've grown in the past few years — we're no longer the kids that used to run around in the playground anymore. The dinner signified the end of our secondary life and the start of the somewhat scary adventure to come.

We'll always carry the values the school has taught us through the years to conquer all hardships. We also understand that we have friends that we can lean on for trust and support.

The wonderful, heartwarming evening wouldn't have been possible without the team of hard working students and supporting teacher advisors.

Another chapter in the book has ended. We can never go back but we can always look back upon it. So three cheers for six years!
